

NIH Selects DISYS Solutions to Support Federal Government on CIO-CS Award

Chantilly, VA: DISYS Solutions Inc. (DSI), a leading national IT solutions provider, was awarded the Chief Information Officer-Commodity Solutions (CIO-CS) Government-Wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC) by the National Institutes of Health Information Technology Acquisition and Assessment Center (NITAAC). The contract is a $20 Billion, five (5) year Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) with a five (5) year optional period. The intent of this contract is to provide IT commodities and solutions to all U.S. Federal agencies, on-site or in the cloud.

“DSI is honored to be awarded the CIO-CS contract by NITAAC for Small Business,” said Atul Bhatia, DSI President and CEO. “We look forward to bringing the best products and services to the Federal Government. Our entire team of IT Certified professionals looks forward to supporting NIH, Federal agencies, and their government contractors to provide and implement IT solutions to positively impact services and ensure success in mission objectives.”

DSI’s CIO-CS contract will provide Federal users with everything IT, including services such as deployment and installation, maintenance and training, engineering studies, enterprise licenses and extended warranties, cloud, mobility, collaboration tools, web and video-conferencing, cyber security, and virtualization.
