Top Cyber Threats

Cisco Talos is one of the largest and most effective threat intelligence organizations in the world. And their Talos Year in Review speaks volumes about the current trends and future threats defenders can expect to see in the coming year. To learn more about this year's report, and what organizations can do to counter what's coming, threat analyst David Liebenberg explores important topics.

What is Wi-Fi 7?

While many people only recently upgraded to Wi-Fi 6 or Wi-Fi 6E, the successor to those standards has already arrived. Wi-Fi 7 is the next significant advance, and just like its predecessors, it promises faster connections, lower latency, and the ability to gracefully manage more connections.

Partner News

HPE to Acquire Juniper

Hewlett Packard Enterprise (HPE) kicked off 2024 by announcing plans to acquire Juniper Networks in a $14 billion deal that analysts and solution providers believe will set up a battle for network supremacy at a time where AI-powered networking reigns. After the close of the deal, HPE will gain additional AI networking muscle that effectively doubles its networking business, according to the company.

Sierra Wireless Re-Brand

Semtech acquired Sierra Wireless in 2023 and announced that they are officially transitioning the Sierra Wireless brand to Semtech. They will still have the same great products and services you've known under Sierra Wireless, just under a new name. During the transition over the coming year, the Semtech brand will be more and more visible in marketing, events, products, and marketplaces and the Sierra Wireless brand will retire.
